County Rent Controls Off; Supervisors Not Consulted

Rent controls for Alameda County, including the unincorporated areas, were removed by an order signed by Tighe Woods, director of Rent Stabilization, on September 27, it was learned this week from the Office of Housing Expeditor in Oakland.

Obviously unaware of the fact that the decontrol measure effected the unincorporated areas, Chester E. Stanley, vice-chairman of the Alameda County Board of Supervisors, released a story last Wednesday that the supervisors were studying proposals for rent decontrol in this area.

At that time Stanley stated that the requests for decontrol action by the the supervisors had been turned over to the District Attorney's office to determine if it was a matter for them.

In his request that a story be published promising action by the supervisors, Stanley stated, "If we learn that it is within our power to take action, we must then call public hearings for a study of the problems."

At that time he went on to state that when the hearings have been completed all that the supervisors could have done was to make a recommendation to the O.P.A. Rent Control Board.

He pointed out this week that the O.P.A., acting on the requests for decontrol filed by the incorporated cities of the county, blanketed their order to decontrol the entire county.

"It is my belief that the controls were imposed on a county-wide basis, so that is undoubtedly their reason for removing them in the same fashion without any recommendation from the governing body of the incorporated area," he concluded.

BILL GONG BUYS CENTERVILLE STORE

The announcement was made yesterday by George Gong, former owner of the Centerville Food Market, that he will again resume ownership of the market on Main Street effective October 29.

Gong, who operated the market for more than four years with his brother Bill, stated that the transaction has been completed with Lester Freeman, present owner.

He also stated that either his brother Bill or Dave Chan, who formerly operated the meat department, will be back in that department when the store again changes hands.

McWHIRTERS' SON IS POLIO VICTIM

Friends of Dr. and Mrs. W. L. McWhirter of Centerville were shocked to learn this week that their oldest son, Tom McWhirter, whose home is in Van Nuys, was stricken with polio last week and is very seriously ill in a hospital down there, being almost completely paralyzed.

His 18-months-old son was also stricken with the disease, but is said to be out of danger at this time.

Dr. and Mrs. McWhirter rushed down to Van Nuys to be with the family.

COMMUNITY CHEST CAMPAIGN OPENS WITH $8100 GOAL

The 1951 Washington Township Community Chest campaign, with a goal of $8,100 to be raised for the seven participating organizations, will open here on Monday.

The goal is considerably higher than the amount raised here last year, brought about by the increase in numbers and activities of the Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts and Girl Scouts and the reactivation of the U.S.O. for servicemen.

The money collected here will be distributed as follows:

Boy Scouts	$2,840
Girl Scouts	2,450
Salvation Army	1,300
U. S. O.	350
Travelers' Aid	150
Irvington Youth Center	300
Newark Youth Center	200

William Chilcote, Centerville, campaign manager for the township, pointed out this week that the Community Chest drive is aimed at eliminating as many individual organization solicitations as possible.

"Seven organizations which otherwise would make their own solicitations have been lumped together under the one campaign," Chilcote said. "It is therefore important that everyone remember that their contributions must be divided seven ways."

The campaign will be headed by co-chairmen in each of the the communities who, working together with their volunteer solicitors, are hopeful of providing every resident an opportunity to contribute to the Red Feather drive.

The volunteer community chairmen who have accepted the appointments to serve in their communities are:

Newark:
Monford Krueger and Mrs. John Kellerman.
Alvarado:
Warren Silva and Leslie Maffey.
Centerville:
Mrs. Henry Machado and Dr. E. M. Grimmer Jr.
Niles:
Mrs. A. M. Alves and Mrs. Irene Henderson.
Decoto:
Mrs. Leontine Costa and Mrs. Elvie Cardoza.
Irvington:
Mrs. J. R. Salvador and Walter Zbyzenski.
Warm Springs:

HILLVIEW CREST MOTHERS MEET WITH SCHOOL HEAD

A meeting of mothers of school-age children now residing in Hillview Crest was held Monday in the tract at Decoto with L. W. Musick, district superintendent of schools, presiding.

Musick made a survey of the number of school children now residing in the new tract and explained the school system to the mothers, inviting them to become members of the Parent-Teacher Association.

BOY SCOUT COUNCIL ORDERS FORMATION OF NEW DISTRICT

Judge Allen G. Norris, president of the Oakland Area Boy Scout Council, yesterday announced that the board of directors of the council has approved plans for the establishment of a new scout district in the southern end of Alameda County.

The new district will be comprised of Washington, Pleasanton and Murray townships.

The establishment of the new district stems from a population study of the East Bay and a desire on the part of the council to anticipate further population growth in the area in providing further service to the Scouters.

H. F. Anderson of the Oakland Area Council staff has been assigned as district executive and Fred Duffie of Niles as district commissioner of the area by Homer Bemiss, council executive.

This week's action marks the second division of the original Southern District of the council within the past three years.

"The division was made to keep pace with the growing desire for Cub Scouting, Boy Scouting and Explorer Scouting in Southern Alameda County," Judge Norris said.

The first step in establishing the new district and electing the officers who will head the organization will be a mass meeting of leaders, committeemen and interested citizens at the Sunol Elementary School on Monday, Oct. 22, beginning at 8 p.m.

NEWARK REPORTS PROGRESS TOWARD OPENING BANK

Newark Chamber of Commerce's campaign for a bank for the community took another step forward this week with the completion of a financial survey and a request for action by the State Banking Department.

Edward O'Mara, chairman of the Chamber Banking Committee, reported that five of the major industries of the community employ 1409 persons and have an annual payroll totaling $4,841,000. He pointed out that in addition there are several small industrial plants whose payrolls would boost the total to near the 6 million mark.

"Newark is larger than any of the four communities of Washington Township that have banks, according to the 1950 census," O'Mara stated this week.

He said that the survey report reveals that school enrollment, number of new telephone installations and number of gas and light installations reflects an increase in excess of 100 per cent in the past five years.

Paul Gygax, president of the Chamber, stated that a minimum of $50,000 capital with 25 per cent held in reserve is required to open a bank. He stated that local residents already have voluntarily pledged financial assistance.

Serving on the banking committee with O'Mara are Arthur Cotton, Dr. Howard Buschke, Paul Heiling, T. C. Gunn, Clyde W. Lindsay, Stanley Menetrey, John S. Oliveira, Frank X. Veit, Sam G. Scott, Jacob Jacobsen and Mrs. Vincent Sulizich.

Nine parcels of land will be sold at the auction to be held in Room 282, City Hall, San Francisco. Bidding may be made in writing or oral beginning at 9:30 a.m. with the parcels being sold individually to the highest cash bidders.

The parcels of land are situated on Wells, Laurel, Spruce, Chestnut and Willow Streets along the Hetch-Hetchy water line right of way.

Minimum price set on the parcels of land ranges from $25 to $175.

FIVE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL DISTRICTS PLAN EXPANSION

District superintendents of the five elementary school districts of Washington Township which are planning construction of new school units or additions to present units this week viewed with alarm the refusal of the National Production Authority to allocate steel for the construction of four new elementary schools in the bay area.

The four proposed new elementary schools were in San Francisco, Menlo Park and Palo Alto, but local superintendents are fearful that the NPA may be setting a precedent which will affect the construction of the proposed new schools here.

The local school districts which are planning new school units or additions to the present facilities are Niles, Newark, Decoto, Centerville and Irvington.

The board of trustees of Niles Elementary School have purchased a 13-acre site near the Ellsworth Orchard Tract for the construction of an entire new school unit. Preliminary plans are now being drawn by the architects.

AWAIT TODAY'S ACTION

Newark Elementary School District is the furthest along with its plans for construction of the second half of its new school plant.

All of the plans have been approved by the various state departments and the Allocation Board is scheduled to meet in Sacramento today (Friday) to vote on the allocation of $227,000. If the allocation is granted it will be added to the $64,000 raised in the district to cover the $291,000 cost of the remaining half of the new unit.

J. I. MacGregor, district superintendent, said yesterday that if the allocation is granted Friday the contract for the construction will be signed on Monday. Just when construction could get under way is dependent upon the National Production Authority's allocation of steel.

DECOTO HAS 3 PROJECTS

Decoto School District is faced with three building projects—the completion of Barnard School; construction of a new school to care for the new residents of Hillview Crest Tract, and the construction of new classrooms to replace condemned facilities at the original Decoto School.

L. W. Musick, district superintendent, said yesterday that the firm of Pondsford and Price, Oakland architects, is preparing preliminary plans for a manual training room, domestic science room, expansion of office facilities and a multi-purpose room at the Barnard School.

Plans have been drawn for ten new classrooms and an office at the site of the Decoto School to replace the condemned classrooms. The new construction would be on the north side of the present school grounds. The three recently constructed primary rooms and the auditorium, which was made earthquake proof in 1939, will continue to be used.

Plans are also being drawn for the new school to serve the Hillview Crest Tract. The district

LOSSES MOUNT IN LOCAL LIQUOR STORE BURGLARIES

Liquor stores of Washington Township continued to take a beating from burglars this week with the Irvington Liquor Store losing a reported $2,000 in stock early Wednesday morning in its second break-in in less than two weeks.

The store, owned by Magior Marchisio of Irvington, is located at 141 Mission Street.

Sheriff's deputies reported that the store was "cleaned out" by the burglars who ripped the lock from the front door to gain entrance. They also dumped bottles of wine from the cases to utilize the cases in packaging the display liquor so that it could be more easily removed.

The store was broken into in a similar fashion early Thursday morning, September 27, and $290 in liquor stolen.

This week's burglary swells the total loss to local liquor store owners to $3,190 in burglaries during the past two weeks.

The liquor store at 2195 Thornton Avenue, Newark, was entered early in the morning of October 4 and whiskey and cigarettes valued at $900 taken.

MISSION CHAMBER TOLD NO POWER SHORTAGE HERE

There is no impending danger of a power shortage in Washington Township.

This was the summary of a talk by Peter Juhl, manager of the Niles office of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co., before the members of the Mission San Jose Chamber of Commerce on Monday evening.

Juhl, a native of Washington Township, spoke on the growth of the area.

"The local power capacity is ample to take care of the township's present load and with the new 60,000-volt line from Mission San Jose to Jarvis Substation at Decoto, set to be completed about December 15, we will double our capacity," Juhl told his audience. He added, "This will give us more than ample capacity to cope with future growth."

He revealed that the new line, although scheduled to carry 60,000 volts at the present time, will eventually carry 110,000 volts.

He traced the history of the growth of the power facilities from the first substation at Mission San Jose, to the construction of the world's largest substation near Newark in 1919, up to the present network of power lines serving this area.

NILES MAN IS WINNER IN NATIONAL CONTEST

J. A. McDonald of Niles was pleasantly surprised this week to learn that he was the winner of a cash third-place award in a contest conducted nationally by Westinghouse Electric Co.

UNIFORMED SCOUTS FOR CHEST DRIVE

Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts throughout the week of the Community Chest drive will wear their uniforms in order to impress upon the townspeople their gratitude for donations made to the Chest. It is Community Chest funds which make it possible for Scouting to continue in the township.

The substation will begin operation on a 24-hour basis beginning Monday and all local calls to the sheriff's department may be made to either Centerville 8-8371 or Niles 4606.

A stenographer is yet to be assigned to the local staff.

Captain Condon said yesterday that although the substation will be in operation on an around-the-clock basis as of Monday, some of the patrol crews will operate out of the Hayward substation until the following week.

The latest type of radio and teletype equipment was installed at the substation this week.

VFW POST HONORS BERNARDO SONS

Washington Township's newest organization of exservicemen, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 7445, Irvington, met Tuesday evening and adopted an official name for the post.

The organization is to be known as Joseph and Stanley Bernardo Post, honoring the two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Bernardo of Centerville who lost their lives in service to their country during World War II.

Walter Roethlin, newly elected commander of the post, announced that the election of other officers would be held at the next meeting on Wednesday, October 17.

Robert Murray, deputy chief of staff of the V.F.W., of San Bruno, was present at the meeting to help Roethlin sign up new members, bringing the membership to 25.

NILES MAN REPORTED WOUNDED IN KOREA

Mrs. Ola Miller of Canyon Heights, Niles, received a telegram this week informing her that her son, Pfc. R. E. Miller, 21, is hospitalized in Korea as the result of an arm wound.

According to the report, he is recovering satisfactorily, and the wound could not be considered too serious. He has been in the hospital for three weeks.

NILES TO BUILD NEW $39,000 FIRE STATION

The contract for Niles' new $39,000 fire station is to be signed at a meeting of the Fire Commissioners to be held Tuesday evening.

The commissioners have announced that the contract will be awarded to C. E. Hopper of East Oakland. Hopper's bid totaled the same as the bid submitted by A. Holyoake of Hayward. However, the commissioners pointed out that they adopted alternate No. 6, having to do with a different type of roof, in which case Hopper's bid was $168 below base bid and Holyoake's bid was $1,472 over the base bid. Holyoake also failed to submit a list of subcontractors, as requested.

John Brahmst, who has been appointed chairman of the building committee by A. M. Alves, chairman of the commission, said yesterday that construction is expected to get under way about November 1 with the building due for completion about February of next year.

The building will be erected on the lot now owned by the district on Second Street between H and I Streets.

It will be constructed of concrete blocks and will have sufficient space for four fire trucks, a meeting hall and sleeping quarters and showers for the firemen.

The Niles Fire Commission is comprised of Chairman Alves, Brahmst, and Leon Solon. Edward E. Enos serves as clerk.

HIGHWAY CLEAN-UP ASKED BY CHAMBER

The cleaning up of roadsides in Alameda County by crews of county prisoners from Santa Rita was proposed by the Niles Chamber of Commerce this week.

It was pointed out by Dr. T. C. Wilson that state highways and county roads are lined with litter of papers, bottles and tin cans which state and county highway crews do not clean up. He suggested that manpower from Santa Rita prison farm could be utilized in a clean-up program without cost to the public, and that a county road department truck might be made available for the job.

Secretary Vernon Ellsworth was instructed to contact proper public officials in regard to the suggestion.

SADLER'S WELLS IN SAN JOSE SOON

Tagliavini, the Italian tenor of the Metropolitan Opera whose voice has become a legend of beauty and the perfection of the Italian "bel canto," will be the attraction in the auditorium, San Jose, on Monday night, October 22, when the San Jose Concert Series opens is sixteenth annual season.

Born in Italy, Tagliavini was being called the "little Caruso" when he was a young child, singing in the church choir. His debut in "La Boheme" in Florence in 1939 was a revelation of "bel canto" singing, and immediately he was engaged by La Scala and the other major Italian opera houses. Word of his extraordinary voice reached America, and records of it, as well as Italian films, heralded the tenor's debut in the New York Metropolitan in 1947, when a furor of excitement and thunderous applause shattered Metropolitan records since Caruso and Gigli.

Saddler's Wells Theatre Ballet reaches San Jose for one performance on December 6.

Thinking Things Over . . .

By VIVIAN BATMAN

Mrs. W. L. McWhirter, township chairman for the blood donor service, rushed down to Van Nuys last week to be with her son, seriously stricken with poliomyelitis. So she will not be able to take charge next Monday when the blood mobile unit comes to Niles.

But those in the township who would like to express their sympathy to her for this sudden tragedy can do it in no better way than to go down to the blood bank next Monday and give a pint of blood.

Nothing that you could do at this time would be appreciated more by her, who has given so much of her time and herself to "keep the blood flowing to Korea."

If the township reaches its quota—even better, goes over its quota—next Monday, it will surely be an expression of gratitude to a woman who has had the welfare of our fighting men constantly in mind.

Give a pint of blood next Monday. Give it for our fighting men. Give it because a woman, undergoing great personal grief at this time, will need to know that her efforts in behalf of our fighting men will be gallantly continued by those into whom she has infused the spirit of giving, and of service for others.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all of the kind people who helped me and especially the members of the union from the Pacific States Steel Company for their donations to me and my children in our time of trouble.

WANT A MAN?

Girls, here's your chance.

The beginners' folk-dancing class at Pleasanton, being held on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in the high school gymnasium there, has only one thing lacking. They need extra girls!

This unusual circumstance is brought about by the fact that the boys from Camp Parks are taking folk-dancing, and there aren't enough partners for them.

Mrs. Frances O'Mara, teacher, says this is the first time since she began her career as a folk-dancing teacher that she has been confronted with the problem of more men than women.

TOYON LUNCHEON OPEN TO PUBLIC

Food and fun—plenty of both—are in store for those who attend the annual fall festival and luncheon given by Toyon Branch of Children's Hospital tomorrow (Saturday) in the lovely old gardens of the Shinn home in Niles.

Mrs. Ted Harvey, general chairman of the event, promises no disappointments. The luncheon — with turkey as the piece de resistance — will be home-cooked and will suit the hungry appetite of the business man as well as the discriminating taste of the housewife. It will be served from 12 o'clock on.

Entertainment during the luncheon will comprise Spanish dances, and violin and accordion solos. The children, who will undoubtedly want something more strenuous in the way of activity than merely listening to music, can release some of their energy by taking pony rides. Ponies will be available.

NILES PUPIL IN FREAK ACCIDENT

Cheryl Cissell, seven-year-old third grade pupil at the Niles School, learned a very valuable lesson this week—that the way to get through a door is to open it, rather than to go crashing through the window of the door.

Cheryl, daughter of Mrs. La Vern Cissell of Niles, is spending the rest of the week at home as the result of lacerations suffered on both arms when she crashed through a glass at the school. She was rushed to the doctor's, and several stitches were taken.

PUBLIC INVITED TO NEWARK CHAMBER MEETING TUESDAY

The general public has been invited to attend the Tuesday evening meeting of the Newark Chamber of Commerce, to be held at the Youth Center Building beginning at 8 p.m.

President Paul Gygax has announced that he is anxious to have as many persons present as possible to hear the report of the Banking Committee and to take part in the discussion.

ESCAPES DEATH IN TRAIN-CAR CRASH

Carlos Cordero, Milpitas, an employee of the Oliver Bros. Salt Co. near Alvarado, narrowly escaped death about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday when his car was struck by a Southern Pacific freight train at Smith street in Alvarado.

Cordero was eastbound on Smith Street when the mishap occurred. A northbound freight had halted just beyond the crossing and Cordero, thinking that the wig-wag signals were in operation for the halted train, proceeded across the tracks. He drove into the path of a southbound train.

By swerving his auto into the same direction the train was moving, Cordero saved his life. The train struck the car a glancing blow, demolishing one side and pushing it down the right-of-way some 100 yards.

Cordero was taken to Fairmont Hospital in the Township Ambulance, where he was treated for a scalp wound and released.

SAVE ALL THE NOURISHMENT SAYS HOME ADVISOR

Sometimes the best parts of the food we prepare in our kitchens go down the drain or vanish in steam, according to Mrs. Maryetta W. Holman, home advisor for the University of California Agricultural Extension Service.

Cook vegetables in as little water as possible and only until they are tender, is her recommendation. If there is any, save liquid left in the pan, use it in soups, sauces, stews or gravies.

Serve foods immediately after they are cooked. Foods left on a steam table or standing on the stove lose more food value than in any other part of food processing, Mrs. Holman says.

Stork Shower

Mrs. Dan Bodily of Niles was the honoree at a surprise baby shower given last Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Douglas McMaster at her home in the Ellsworth Orchard. After Mrs. Bodily had tracked down her gifts through a mystery maze of strings, the guests enjoyed refreshments on the patio.

Those present were: Mmes. D. A. Welch, Gertrude Dutra, Kathy Mozzetti, Violet Luna, Sally Lee, Lou Silva, Sue Berchem, Jessie Rebello, Ethel Moughan and Mrs. Britt.

Bridge Luncheon

Mrs. L. S. Williams and Mrs. R. A. Sparrowe were co-hostesses at a bridge luncheon Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Williams on Norris Road. Guests for nine tables were present.

At Palm Springs

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dutra of Newark are in southern California this week vacationing at Palm Springs. They expect to return home at the end of this week.

CENTERVILLE SCHOOL PTA MEMBERSHIP DRIVE ON

Mrs. Vernon Brown, president of the Centerville Elementary School P.T.A., announced this week that the organization's membership drive is proceeding most satisfactorily and it is expected that this year's enrollment will exceed the all-time record set last year.

She reported that dues for the year for a single membership are $1. Dual memberships, for both mother and father, are $1.50 per year. Anyone desiring to join may contact one of the officers or see Tom Maloney, principal, at the school.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Oct. 23, at 2:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Overacker of Mission San Jose are starting off today (Friday) for one of their favorite "haunts," the beautiful scenic country in Arizona. Having been there three years ago in October, they still remember the autumn colors of the aspens and the other gorgeous foliage and are anxious to revisit this land of enchantment. They hope to capture some of it by taking colored pictures.

Accompanying them on the trip will be Mrs. Overacker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Elliott of Niles.

They will conclude their trip by deer hunting in Nevada, where they will be joined by Mr. Overacker's brother, Michael Overacker.

Surprising all of her friends—and even her family—the former Beatrice Espinoza of Irvington arrived home Saturday with a wedding ring on her finger. She is now Mrs. Paul Hernandez, having been married at the Hollywood Chapel in Hollywood on September 9.

The new Mrs. Hernandez met her bridegroom at Camp Roberts where she was sent on a temporary assignment by the telephone company. 'TIME FOR TAPIOCA' ENTERTAINS MEMBERS OF DECOTO GROUP AT MUSICK HOME

By ETHEL AVILLA

The Decoto Discussion Group enjoyed a most interesting meeting last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. L. W. Musick. Mrs. Walter Chrysler and Mrs. Maurice Marks were guests.

Mrs. Edward O'Mara led a discussion of "Time for Tapioca" by Charlotte Stryker, an amusing tale of the hardships suffered by the Stryker family, who go to Java with the intention of raising tapioca for Mr. Stryker's glue factory in Pennsylvania. The family tries at first to ignore local customs but gradually succumb to the very slow pace of Dutch colonial social life. Father Stryker has enough energy to see him through his last harrowing experience before he leaves Java with his family for home in Roselawn.

Mrs. O'Mara's guest, Mrs. Marks, brought many interesting snapshots, pictures and souvenirs she had picked up in her travels through the South Seas, beautiful hand-painted textiles from the Celebes and carved wood and articles of clothing from Java, which she graciously modeled for the group. She told of the customs of the people of Bali and how the natives are exploited as a tourist attraction. Mrs. Marks also played a number of Javanese recordings which were, according to our standards, very unusual.

A luncheon was served by the hostess preceding the meeting.

Mrs. Dora Mae Scudder will lead the November meeting which will be held at the home of Mrs. Bernie Joseph. She has chosen Charles Dobie's "San Francisco's Chinatown" to be discussed at that time.

Visitor from Florida

Mrs. Raymond Williams is expected here soon to visit her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Correa of Durham Road. "We drove 6000 miles looking for a suitable location," said Mrs. Hicks, "and finally chose Niles because of the climate and because we like the location."

Dr. Hicks, a graduate of Ohio State University, has been practicing in Santa Cruz. The Hicks have three boys and two girls, the oldest of whom is 8.

It will be almost another month, they think, until their pet hospital is ready for operation.

BEARCATS ENTER OAKLAND WINTER BASEBALL LEAGUE

By TONY ROGERS

The Centerville Bearcats have reopened their season in order to enter the Oakland Winter League, which gets under way Sunday.

In a warm-up game last Sunday the local lads defeated the United Auto Workers 9 to 6 at McConnell Field.

John Garcia, winning pitcher for Centerville, tossed six innings, allowing 5 runs and 8 hits before he was relieved by Stan Roderick. Roderick was touched for 3 hits, allowed one run and fanned four batters.

Garcia got off to a wobbly start, allowing five runs in the first two innings. However, he settled down and pitched good ball until tiring in the seventh.

The Bearcats trailed 5 to 1 into the third when Anderson, Oakland hurler, weakened and walked three straight batters, Faria, Roderick and Rose, with one out. Dutra forced Rose at second for the second out, Faria scoring on the play. Don Lemos cleaned the bases to tie up the game with an over-the-fence homer.

The Cats added another run in the fourth inning and combined three walks, one error and a hit to score three more runs in the fifth.

Don Lemos led the team at the plate with two hits in four times, followed by Ed Rose with 2 for 5, and Joe Dutra with 2 for 6.

WASHINGTON FIVES SPLIT OPENER

The Washington High C and D basketball squads split their season opener double-header last week against Live Oak with the C's scoring a 28-27 victory and the D's bowing in defeat 29 to 20.

Both squads, coached by Don Wolfe, were hampered by first-of-the-season tenseness.

The C squad got off to a flying start and held an 11 to 1 lead at the end of the first quarter. They widened it to 18-5 at the half time. The local lads began weakening in the third quarter and held but a 21-17 lead going into the final period. The Live Oak quintet forged into the lead in the closing minutes but a closing-second drive by the local lads won them a one-point victory. Anchundo led the Washington quintet in scoring with 12 points, followed by Leach with 6, Hird 4, Mahussy 2 and Cordova 1.

The D's had trouble hitting the loop in their skirmish with Don Martin accounting for 12 of his team's 20 points.

The two teams were scheduled for a double-header yesterday against Fremont but results were not available at press time.

Ratto's truck was pushed across the highway and nosed into the corner of the restaurant. The corner of the building was demolished and the front windows knocked out. Two men seated at the counter inside the restaurant were slightly injured.

HUSKIES WIN SCVAL OPENER; INVADE MT. VIEW TONIGHT

The Washington Huskies invade the stronghold of the Mt. View High School gridsters tonight (Friday) in their march toward the Santa Clara Valley Athletic League championship.

The might of the Husky squad was tested and found adequate against the Santa Clara varsity on the home field last Friday night, with Coach Jud Taylor's lads winning 14 to 7.

The two teams slammed at each other on a fairly even basis during the first quarter until the closing seconds when "Coco" Rivera passed to Martinez, who sprinted to the Santa Clara 2-yard line.

HUSKY HURT

In two consecutive line smashes at the opening of the second quarter, Alexander went over for the first score. Duarte's placement split the uprights, giving the Huskies a 7-0 lead.

D. Couthern, right tackle for the Huskies, suffered a broken leg on the kickoff when he was clipped by a Santa Clara blocker.

The outstanding defense work of the two Husky ends, Lee Walton and Paul Zeisse, set the Panthers back 15 yards, as they continued to do all evening.

The Huskies threatened again late in the second quarter, when Bob Preciado recovered a fumble on the Santa Clara 45-yard stripe. They drove down the field but were set back when a pass from center slipped through the backfield. Ferraris punted and Walton dropped Costa, Panther safety man, on the 3-yard line.

A desperate passing attack by the Panthers took them to the 46-yard line as the half ended.

LONG MARCH

In the second half, John Chacon sparked a drive which resulted in five consecutive first downs and the second Husky score. Chacon passed to Zeisse and Ferraris for long gains and shared ball-carrying duties with Gonzales and Alexander, with Alexander going over from the 5-yard line.

Rich Duarte added the extra point to continue his perfect record for the season.

In the final quarter, the Panthers drove to the Husky 9-yard line, but the Husky forward wall tightened and held. A Husky fumble, however, on the 3-yard line set up the Panthers' touchdown. They were held for two downs but passed deep in the corner of the end zone for their lone tally. Fernandez drop-kicked the extra point.

THREE VARSITY MEN OUT ON INJURIES

Three of the Huskie varsity gridsters will be out of tonight's line-up because of injuries.

Don Couthern, reserve tackle, will be out the remainder of the season having suffered a leg fracture in last week's game.

Marty Sammon, first-string end, is expected to be out another two weeks because of a shoulder injury.

Bob Espinoza, second-string quarterback, suffered injuries in an auto accident Saturday which will keep him out of the lineup indefinitely.

YOU COULD BE A MURDERER

"Hunter, spare that child."

Nimrods who keep loaded firearms within the reach of children are not only potential murderers but are, in many cases, actual murderers; for they alone are responsible for the many deaths resulting from children playing with loaded firearms.

Only this week an eight-year-old girl in Concord was shot to death by a playmate who had taken his father's 30-30 rifle into the yard. When the boy picked up the gun to return it to the house it "slipped" and was discharged, killing the girl.

Accidents such as these are becoming increasingly common.

Is it asking too much of a hunter—who derives so much pleasure from the sport—to be sure that his gun is used for pleasure only and not as an instrument of death?

Remember, your child and your child's playmates are precious possessions. Put that gun—unloaded—away. Do it TODAY. Tomorrow may be too late.

CATTLE, SHEEP MEN TO PLAN PROGRAM

Livestockmen and dairymen will plan their respective educational program with the Agricultural Extension Service next week, according to Walter Johnson, farm advisor.

Dairymen will meet at 1:30 in the afternoon on Monday, October 15, at the faculty dining room of Washington Union High School. G. E. Gordon, extension dairyman, will be featured in a discussion of "Artificial Breeding" and other topics of vital interest to dairymen.

Cattle and sheep producers will meet at 8 p.m., Wednesday, October 17, at the Alameda County Fair offices, Pleasanton. This program will highlight supplemental feeding of beef cattle on irrigated pastures, raising replacement ewes, selective breeding of beef cattle and sheep, breeding ewe lambs, range improvement through good management, reseeding and fertilization, and proper development and use of irrigated pastures.

These meetings are held in order that stockmen may discuss their problems with representatives of the University of California, and make plans to solve the problems for mutual benefit.

All interested parties are invited to attend and participate.

IRVINGTON MAY OPEN NEW STREET

The possibility of the opening of a second through street in Irvington to link High and Lincoln Streets with Broadway is to be studied by the Irvington Chamber of Commerce.

At the present time the only street linking the two side streets with the business district is Union Street.

Walter Connolly, vice-president of the Chamber, who presided over Tuesday's meeting, named Allan Hirsch, Gus Robertson, A. E. Alameda and Walter Papazian to the committee to investigate the proposal.

A safety committee was named, composed of Max Stevenson, Gus Robertson and Allan Hirsch, to attempt to win the co-operation of the California Highway Patrol in slowing down the truck traffic through the town.

PRAYER FOR WORLD PEACE OCTOBER 21

The second annual pilgrimage to the novitiate of the Holy Family Sisters at Palmdale, Mission San Jose, with the public invited to participate in the prayer for world peace will be held Sunday, October 21.

The grounds of the novitiate will be open to the public from 2 until 5 p.m. where the throng will join in reciting the rosary, singing hymns to Our Lady of Fatima, and praying for world peace.

An estimated 3,500 persons attended the devotions last year and an increased number is expected this year. Special parking facilities will be provided.

Catholics from throughout the bay area are expected to make the pilgrimage.

Among the organizations which will participate are Knights of Columbus, Young Ladies' Institutes, Young Men's Institutes, the Chinese girls of St. Mary's Church, San Francisco, in full costume, and the R.O.T.C. unit from Santa Clara University.

GUEST SPEAKER AT SUNDAY SERVICE

Mal Boyd, young Hollywood TV executive, who found Christian vocations superior to a lucrative position, will be the speaker for the Youth Fellowship at the Centerville Presbyterian Church this Sunday evening at 6:30.

The 27-year-old Boyd, now studying for the gospel ministry at Church Divinity School in Berkeley, was recently chairman of the multi-network Los Angeles Television Week.

Youth of the Newark Presbyterian Church will be guests for the evening. Following the meeting will be a social hour when refreshments will be served.

"What is the purpose of the Church?" will be the sermon topic Sunday morning. Sunday School meeting at 9:45 will include a new adult discussion group which will be led by Ruth Steward.

TRAFFIC CONTROL LIGHTS SOUGHT

An all-out campaign with the installation of traffic control lights at the intersection of Highways 17 and 21 at Warm Springs as its goal was launched this week by Chambers of Commerce of the township.

The Warm Springs and Washington Township Chambers of Commerce have long sought the installation of traffic control lights at the hazardous intersection.

They have, however, been unsuccessful in their attempts to bring about action by the State Highway Department.

In letters to the two chambers, the state department has reported that it feels the expenditure is unwarranted, as the present heavy flow of traffic will be relieved when the new Eastshore Freeway is completed.

The Centerville and Irvington Chambers of Commerce voted at their meetings this week to unite with the Warm Springs and Township Chambers in renewing their campaign for improved traffic control system.

This week's renewed action was brought on by the auto-truck crash at the intersection last week, which claimed the life of one woman and sent three members of one family to the hospital with serious injuries.

CAMP REUNION DAY SET FOR LOCAL GIRL SCOUTS

A camp Reunion Day and Play Day for all Girl Scouts in Washington Township is scheduled to be held at Washington Union High School on October 20 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Plans for the event were made at a meeting of the Washington Township Adult Girl Scout meeting on October 5.

Girls attending will bring "nose-bag" lunches. Games, singing, and other activities will be included in the day's program.

CLASSES INCREASE AT NIGHT SCHOOL

The tempo of activity at the Washington Evening School continued to increase during the past week with the addition of new classes and arrangements for more to start within the next week.

Warren Gravestock, principal, said yesterday that the choral group met Monday evening with 15 present and is expected to prove very popular.

The class in agricultural mechanics opens Tuesday with Al Carter as the instructor. The class will convene each Tuesday and Thursday evening from 7 to 10 o'clock in the agricultural building.

The welding classes, which will meet every evening from 7 to 10 o'clock under the supervision of Louis Joseph, begins sessions on Monday.

Gravestock pointed out that a $3 fee for the 20 lessons in the welding and agricultural mechanics will be charged in advance to pay for the cost of the gas used.

The ever-popular flower arrangement class will open on Thursday, October 18. Mrs. Juanita Massa will conduct the class each Thursday from 1:30 to 4 p.m.

Another popular class which opened Wednesday was the course in millinery, which convenes each Wednesday from 1 until 4 p.m.

SANITARY DISTRICT OFFICE OPEN HALF HOUR DAILY

STUDENT TEACHER

Philip Brazil, student teacher from San Jose State College, has been assigned to the Centerville Elementary School, where he is assisting with the eighth grade class under the supervision of Mrs. Alice Lambrecht, eighth grade teacher, and Principal Tom Maloney.

FIVE SCHOOLS

has acquired a ten-acre site to the north of the tract, which will become the site of the new school.

CENTERVILLE BUYS SITE

The board of trustees of the Centerville School District has purchased an 11-acre tract on Thornton Avenue as the site for a new school to serve that district.

District Superintendent Tom Maloney said yesterday that a site utilization plan and preliminary drawings are now being prepared. He stated that the district has applied to the National Production Authority for an allocation of steel.

"We know that throughout California there are many cases where new schools are being constructed to replace old buildings," Maloney said. "We are hopeful here that inasmuch as we are not replacing buildings but need adequate school housing we will be granted our steel allocation."

IRVINGTON CROWDED

Irvington Elementary School District is in the process of having plans drawn for a four-classroom addition with the ultimate expansion to 10 classrooms.

Gus Robertson, district superintendent, said that the plans, now being prepared by George Ellinger, Oakland architect, are expected to be ready to submit to the State Schoolhouse Planning Board this month.

He pointed out that the district is not eligible for state financial aid as it is bonded to only about one-fourth of its maximum.

He expressed hope that the new addition could proceed at a rapid enough pace to be ready for occupancy next September.

Fisherman's Wharf

The Calls and the Laughter of the Wharf Have an Unspoiled Flavor; You Can Imagine Yourself in Genoa or Seville.

By HAL MASSON

Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco bears much the same relationship to Fisherman's Wharf in Monterey as a lump of coal bears to a diamond. The same basic element but hardly to be compared for lustre.

And if someone sniffs, "Yes, indeed a diamond," we have to agree that there is a certain brashness and flamboyance about Monterey's wharf, but so far it has failed to spoil it. It is still the genuine thing.

It sits at the end of the main street, almost a continuation of the street, a water-bound avenue of stout planking sitting on heavy barnacle-encrusted pilings, as a show-window to the blue waters of Monterey Bay, with its wide graceful shore curving around towards Santa Cruz and the mountains a pink cascade to the east.

Home of the Fleet

This is the home of the fleet, the Santa Rosalia and the Santa Lucia II, the Italia and the Thelma K, and the many others that dance on the blue water in the sunlight. When you read those names on the white-painted bows you know something of the men who sail them—Italian, Spanish, Portugese and some just plain American. And though the tourists walk the weather-beaten planks of the wharf that's not what you notice. Especially if you go down there early in the morning. For then the Wharf belongs to the men who catch fish and the men who sell them, and the calls and the laughter have an unspoiled flavor; you can imagine yourself in Genoa or Seville, and you have to be prepared for the sight of two Japanese talking Gay in fast Spanish.

Along both sides of the wharf are the vendors' stands with their-old catch waiting to tempt you, and in between are restaurants that cater to the seafood gourmet. There's Pop Erast, first man to soften up the succulent abalone for the American palate. He found that by beating them with a sculptor's mallet or an empty rum bottle with readily available on the Monterey Peninsula) he could reduce them from rubber-heel consistency to the point where you could concentrate less on their texture and more on their delicate flavor.

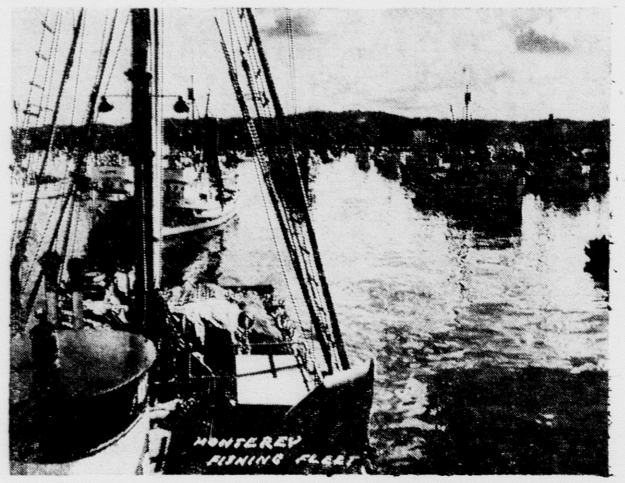
There are curio stands with shells delicately moulded into table ornaments and lamps. Or the abalone shells themselves, fresh from the ocean and costing 25 cents apiece.

Up and Down the Spectrum

And there's color. As a dress-up for the 1948 Centennial, people with brushes and paint buckets came to the wharf and painted it over. It has been said that there's no one with a poorer eye for color blending than an artist. On the wharf they simply ran up and down the spectrum. The results were startling, distinctive and in some indefinable way, pleasing. When artists Bruce Arris and Jean Varda were consulted on the color scheme for Angelo's restaurant, run by four enterprising G.I.'s, Varda stated flatly, "Paint it pink, black, orange, green and purple, for it is obvious that those are the only possible colors for a restaurant."

While there are people in Bakersfield and Indio who might argue with this point of view, the results on the wharf seem just right.

Down below the wharf sea lions bark and roar among the pilings, and you see them lying on the bait hoppers off Cannery Row. And if you have an urge to catch some fish instead of buying them you can charter a boat and go after albacore or salmon, or you can go with the crowd and take your pick off the bottom.



One of the most interesting spots in an interesting area, Fisherman's Wharf is a must on your sight-seeing schedule.

Oak Trees Need Care

Few home owners realize that oak trees need careful attention if they are to remain healthy and decorative, says plant pathologist H. N. Hansen, University of California College of Agriculture. Oaks thrive on well drained soils. This should be the guide in landscaping around oak trees.

Excess watering around oaks is bad business. Normally the rainy season takes care of their water needs. The rest of the year the roots find necessary water in below ground reservoirs.

Soils should not be added under oaks. Any new soil around the tree trunks foster wood rotting fungi which can quickly kill the trees.

TAMING THE TERRIBLE TERRIER

Is your dog antagonizing your neighbors or wrecking your home life? The cure may be simpler than you think.

By ASQUITH MULDOON

Last year a young friend I'll call George improved his home with a new $250 rug. Three weeks later his wife, Edna, brought home a $15 Terrier puppy. In two months dog and rug had about the same value. A pair of slippers had also depreciated from $7.50 to 98 cents and George's Florsheim shoes had come down from $21 to the trash bin. The pup constantly leapt on to George's good business suits with dirty paws; and George always had to examine a chair before sitting down. Edna did not even seem too much disturbed when she had to wipe the floor after the pup. The terrier whined unless allowed to sleep on the foot of their double bed—which he was. Edna could sleep but George, who travelled for his company, didn't get much sleep when he came home. The dog chased a delivery boy on a bicycle who rammed a tree and broke his arm. George paid the hospital bill rather than be sued. George moved out of the double bed and slept on a studio couch in the small room he used as an office. During the next three months he tried to train the pup when he was home, but the lessons were not followed up when he was away, and they did no good. At the end of six months George gave Edna a choice.

"Which of us do you want?" he asked her.

End of the Terrible Terrier

She chose the dog and sued for divorce. George moved out and got a room in a town closer to his work. Two weeks after he left, the pup chased another bicycle around a corner. The cyclist could see over the top of a hedge and the dog couldn't. The cyclist cleared the approaching car, but the pup died under the wheels.

This was a very extreme case because most of the nuisance qualities of several dogs were combined in the one animal. Since a dog's bad habits are usually a reflection of a sloppy attitude in the owner it is unlikely that George's marriage would have lasted anyway. But half an hour of Edna's time each day could have made the Terrier a fine companion and given her and George a greater community of interests.

The most common complaints against dogs are based on conduct which you would never permit in your child: wetting on the floor; running at random on the street; clowning on guests in your home; refusing to obey when called. Such conduct is easy to mend.

Adventures in Business

He Kept His Gaze Aloft For an Aviation Empire

By NICHOLS FIELD WILSON

A significant phase in the career of Glenn L. Martin is found in the fact that the miracle of flight for man never impressed him as being improbable. He cannot recall the day when flying kites did not absorb him; nor a time in his life when he lacked confidence that conquest of the air was certain to come.

When Orville Wright wavered into the air for one minute and forty seconds in 1906 the achievement brought a thrill to young Martin, but not mystification. On the contrary, he felt a calm confidence that what Orville Wright had done would soon be done by himself . . . and by thousands of other men in years to come.

Wise Mother

This confidence of his had been cleverly and adroitly nurtured by a wise and understanding mother. Just recently, Martin said:

"Wright's plane looked to me like nothing but a kite with a motor in it. Kites were not new to me, and mother had faith in her son. He could do anything anybody else could do, she was sure, and do it even better."

No small part of his success has its genesis in his mother's faith. It was she who allowed the very small Martin boy to clutter up her modest home with sticks and paper and string as he worked at the perfecting of his kites. By the time he was seven he had become so proficient that he could turn out three super models a day. Later on, it was his mother who stood for hours, holding aloft a kerosene lamp, while Glenn worked at the construction of a real plane. This was in 1907 and 1908, and their workshop was a small abandoned church in Santa Ana.

Exhibition Flight

Without reference books or plans they finally did produce a contrivance which actually flew. In 1909 Martin "soared" at a two-foot altitude for 200 feet, and on Nov. 21, 1910, he made his first advertised exhibition flight.

Less than two years later he flew to undying fame and the then world's overwater record, when he brought his crude pusher plane to a landing at Avalon, Catalina Island. The start was at Balboa, Calif.

Martin and his mother have lived to see overwater flights of thousands of miles become a matter of daily routine. They have lived to see an air-minded nation look to air-power as its salvation in war; its best hope of maintaining peace after victory; its greatest hope in pushing economic frontiers to all the dark corners of the earth.

The vast Glenn L. Martin Company of today, sprawling over hundreds of acres at Baltimore, Md., is a far cry from the little church in Santa Ana, where his first plane was built. Aviation has come of age, and times have changed. But to Martin and his mother, things are essentially the same. Their philosophy may be summed up in the simple code of doing the best you can with the knowledge and tools of the moment.

Wife Wonders

Why Editor Goes Deer Stalking

Editor's Note: Readers of the Manteca Bulletin, one of the 44 leading California weekly newspapers in the Magaine California Family, have already seen this piece from the pen of Editor George Murphy, Jr. We thought the readers of the other 43 member newspapers would enjoy it.

By GEORGE MURPHY, Jr.

Our wife often wonders why we like to go deer hunting. She's not alone in this matter since we're beginning to wonder the same thing. The trouble is we have always been a pushover for every guy who comes along that knows where the bucks are. Now this is plain dumb since deer are where you find them. But along comes a guy who says he knows where the woods are full of bucks—in fact he says he saw 50 of 'em.

WE HAVE COMPANY

Furthermore this country isn't hard to get to—and yet it isn't full of hunters. We fell for this stuff and headed off for this Sierra paradise last Friday afternoon. We are not alone in this delusion since our three-car party consists of such solid citizens as Oscar Halsebo, Henry Loumena, Bill Johnson, his son, Don, Larry King and Orrin Webb.

This party winds up somewhere near the Nevada line about a million miles east of Markleeville. Beautiful country—nothing but sage brush and a few wizened up rabbits that are barely able to exist in such a place.

BUMPER STRETCHER

Our guide informs us that it is necessary to go over a slight hill to get to the camp site, and that the cars might need a slight push to make it up the grade. This is an understatement.

We take the jeep and try to pull Bill Johnson's car up the hill. This involves considerable trouble and we finally wind up by dragging Johnson's car across another jeep and denting Johnson's fender. We also manage to stretch his bumper a little out of shape.

MOUNTAIN COFFEE

But the jeep can't make it and Johnson is forced to abandon his car. We go on over the hill and come to our camping

Retiring? Expert says: 1. Preserve your capital. 2. Avoid making money despite opportunity. 3. Dedicate part of your time to helping youngsters. 4. Keep busy. 5. Live in country. Recent Washington survey discloses that it costs $150 a month for 65-year-old couple to have a "modest but adequate" living. Doesn't include auto. Only one out of four actually wants to retire. Closer to retirement age, the more desire to keep present job or do something useful. Hunting and fishing favorite hobbies of those who hope to retire. Most would like to live on small farm. Before you buy, remember: Farm should be on good road. Fields should be flat. Pretty hillside places NG. Overbuilt farms tough to operate a profit. Carefully check these four points: Fences, paint, gullies, weeds. All indicators of farm's true condition. Shoot first traveling salesman. Will discourage others.

CALIFORNIANS. Tom Clarke. Hemet. Clarke, 81, has been climbing Mt. Whitney every Labor Day for past four years. Say's he's all through now unless someone older makes it. Credits his endurance to diet of oranges, soya beans and wheat. . . . Clemente Villalpando. Hanford. Clemente didn't believe hospital when they told him he was papa of triplets. Thought it over, called back. Sure enough, triplets was right. Man takes a chance, calling back like that. Could land quads or even quints . . . Busch Manson. Los Angeles. Member of L. A. College football on downgrade. 35 colleges have dropped sport since 1950. St. Mary's latest Cal. school to call it quits. Dr. Mal Stevens okays high school football if: boy has proper physique, good equipment and in school that places health above victory.

EGGS. 2,500,000 more hens. That's the amount of egg-makers needed if So. Cal. is to supply its own demand. So. Cal. imported 1,300,000 cases last year. One-third from Utah and most of the rest from the Mississippi Valley region. Livermore area currently being "rediscovered" by poultrymen. Uncrowded land, choice of drainage soil and excellent climate provided setting for boom by GIs. Takes a pressure of 8 to 15 lbs. to break egg. 18 per cent more force needed to break egg on small end. This info for those mornings when you're feeling weak. At Rutgers U, yr. long contest between New Jersey hens and Cal hens ended in victory for N. J. by 55 eggs. We wuz robbed.

THEY SAY. "It's better to eat a bug than a spray," says Gloria Swanson. "Too many people are walking around with arsenic poisoning and don't know it." Experts retort that Gloria doesn't know what she's talking

DO YOU HAVE THESE THREE THINGS THAT MAKE PEOPLE SICK?

Suffering in body, mind and nerves caused by the three following facts is endured by approximately twenty people out of a hundred. (1) Dropped stomaches, kinks, twists or tight places in the colon hold food back until it spoils and and poisons the whole system. (2) Wrong assumption that laxatives, enemas and diet will eventually get rid of those poisons. The average person does not realize that the bowels alone will not get rid of poisons when they are scattered all over the body. There are six more organs designed to help rid the system of poisons. (3) Even after people wake up to the fact that there are seven poison eliminating organs, they still have no idea how to help each one to get rid of its own special kind of poison. Therefore they continue to suffer on in misery. Over sixty human ailments are caused by poisons. You can learn health laws on diet and natural system cleansing to be carried out in your own home. It is foolish to waste more time with hope that your bowels will get rid of the poisons the other six organs are supposed to take care of. Learn the easy quick way to help your bowels, kidneys, skin, lungs, blood, liver and lymphatic ducts to function properly getting rid of poisons. Read "The Road to Health", written by Louis L. Sherman, M.D., well known physician and surgeon. It will be mailed for 50c and this special notice. It contains a wonderful message for those whose health is slipping. Send to 2801 High St., Oakland 19, Calif. When in Oakland, hear Louis L. Sherman, M.D., lecture Tuesdays at 1:30 p.m. as his guest. more than an ordinary leather leash, a choke collar and enough love and patience to see the job through.

He Understands a Pat on the Head

To keep him from romping all over your guests he should be taught to sit down and stay there. For this lesson take a short hold on his leash with the right hand. Put your left hand on his rump, and as you give the command, "Sit," push down with your left and pull up firmly with your right. It is not necessary to reward him with tidbits. He will understand a word of praise.

Now, to get him to lie down quietly and stay there you simply carry this lesson one step further. Step back a couple of paces and, holding the leash firmly in one hand, bring your other hand down sharply on to the taut leather, giving the command "lie down," at the same instant. The jerk will be enough to put him where you want him without hurting him, and he will soon associate the prone position with the command. Resist the impulse to pet him at this point since that will make him get up. A repetition of the command, "Stay," will get the idea home to him in a few lessons.

This is the best starting position for training him to come when called. Get back to the end of the leash, give it a tug and call him by name in a friendly way. Don't say, "Come here, boy," one time and "What are you waiting for?" the next. A constant, "Come, Rover," will produce the right kind of conditioning. A drill sergeant don't say, "All right, men, you can stop now." He says "HALT" and he gets results.

If he is inclined to disobey at greater distances, add a length of rope to enforce the command. After a few lessons you won't need the rope.

One Word—100 Meanings

Teach him early the word "No," and it will serve a hundred purposes. Get him conditioned to that single imperative syllable of disapproval and it will tell him he mustn't lick your face while driving or put his feet on the table.

It is natural for your dog to jump up on you. You can discourage the habit by stooping and petting him when you come home, because that is what he is jumping up for. If he persists he can be broken by one of three methods, listed here in order of effectiveness.

Take his front paws in your hands and walk him backwards. This is awkward for a dog and may be enough. More stubborn cases may require that you push him over backwards. Not on a hardwood or flagstone floor, but on a lawn. Since some dogs will think these cures are a form of play, you may have to resort to number three. Take him by the front paws and step on his hind foot. Don't crush it; just make it uncomfortable for him. He'll soon wriggle to be let free and he won't want to get up again.

Easier Than Mopping Up

For a dog that is not yet housebroken the old-fashioned method of rubbing his nose in it and beating him is not recommended. It is enough to show him the spot and reprove him with the simple word, "Shame." Both his ears and his nose are much sharper than yours. He knows what that means, all right.

A great help in housebreaking is to feed him at regular hours. And walk him right after meals and first thing in the morning. Fortunately for humans, dogs are naturally clean and he will quickly get the idea of asking to get out.

Your best living room chair is naturally the dog's favorite. He likes comfort too. Okay, arrange it. How often have you thrown out an old couch. One of those loose cushions, with kapok and innersprings, will tuck away inconspicuously in your room. Next time he is on your chair give him a shame-filled, "No-o-o," and take him to his own cushion.

If he persists, set a mousetrap on the chair. It won't hurt him but it will scare him. Three snaps and he's cured.

It cannot be stressed too strongly that commands should be uniform and never varied. A recruit to the army gets a few words drilled into his spine on the parade ground 3000 miles from the line. When he gets into battle the coward and the hero advance and retreat on a single word of command.

Whether or not you are a refugee from a second looie you should have no trouble applying this principle to your dog.

Magazine to Tell About Cow Palace

San Francisco was the focal point of the entire Western livestock industry this week as leaders in this great enterprise prepared for the opening of the mammoth 10-day Grand National Livestock Exposition, Horse Show and Rodeo in the Cow Palace Oct. 26.

In co-operation with the Exposition, Magazine California will devote considerable space in its next issue to emphasize the importance of this outstanding show to the livestock and agricultural interests of the West.

This year's Grand National will be the seventh annual event staged in the Cow Palace. Each year sees an increased interest in the Exposition, both from the spectators, exhibitors and participants' standpoints.

With an arena show unique in the annals of livestock expositions scheduled for the 10 days, Oct. 26 to Nov. 4, a record attendance was anticipated by the directors of No. 1-A District Agricultural Association, the State Agency which runs the Cow Palace.

Some 150,000 persons annually have viewed the Exposition for the past several years.

House Plants Can Go Outdoors

House plants are apt to suffer during the summer from warm weather and neglect during vacations. If not in bad shape, they can often be revived by regular watering, liquid fertilizer and washing off the foliage with a fine spray of water regularly.

Try moving plants outdoors in a shady place, plunging the pots into the ground and keeping them moist. When new growth appears, lift the pots and bring them indoors. Some will need repotting to larger containers. It is better to discard plants infested with scale or mealy bug and start with new, healthy plants.

'Turkey Town, U.S.A.' A Desert Discovery

Chester R. Bunker came to California in 1934 and went to work handling industrial properties for the Bank of America. He actually was seeking a new frontier. Speedily he discovered one down on the desert near Twenty-Nine Palms. In his capacity of real estate broker he learned all he could regarding this vast desert area and came under its spell completely.

By 1942 he felt that he could wait no longer to put in effect his vision of a desert in bloom. He took over a sales contract for the townsite of Joshua Tree not at all dismayed because it consisted of only a few dirt roads, a filling station and a handful of houses.

In a few years he built the town of Joshua Tree, now one of the best known and most thriving towns on the desert. One thing worried Bunker. So many people wanted to live on the desert . . . but there was little profitable employment.

He dreamed of a plan that would furnish profit possibilities for those moving out in this healthful climate. As a result some few years ago he and associates in the Bunker Land Company took over a large tract of land and established the community of Sunfair and as their letterhead says, "we are developing the only complete 'Turkey Town' in the U.S.A."

Oct. 13 and 14 is the date of the third annual turkey show at Sunfair Ranches. Here visitors saw numerous ranches that in 1951 will produce about 80,000 turkeys . . . the big double-breasted variety . . . for Thanksgiving and Christmas dinner tables.

And now Bunker's idea which he has worked diligently for years is proven successful . . . so successful that several turkey producers at Sunfair will, this year, collect net profits far greater than their original investment.

Every one can make money at home by turning their hobbies into well paying businesses. Mrs. D. F. K. of Mobile, Ala. writes, "Dear Mr. Criswell: My Mother decided early in life that I was too good to work and when she died I faced life completely untrained. I tried job after job until I found myself washing dishes for a second rate hotel using a very gummy soap. I remembered seeing my grandmother cook soap out of doors, and I duplicated this on my next dayoff. I was able to sell my soap to other hotels and later from house to house. Today I have a well paying business which grew out of the lowliest job I ever held." Often our misadventures and our misfortunes in life are blessings in disguise and will turn out to our advantage if we have the faith in our daily existence!

A VERY FAMOUS PREDICTION:

Nostradamus, the peer of all prognosticators, was most adept at giving dates of coming events. Here is one time we can all check up on his accuracy. These are his words from his Centuries published in 1532: "For this day will bring havoc, planets will ressound in the skies, and it will rain comets. Any one in half-their-minds will stay indoors and be untouched!" . . . and then he gives us this date . . . so keep this clipping, and do not say that I did not warn you about this: The date that Nostradamus gives is October 10, 1999! On the morning of October 11th, 1999, we can all exchange notes on what we saw and heard the day before!

Criswell Answers

Dear Criswell:

Will I ever have a home of my own again? Will Tom ever come to his senses? Will Edith ever be able to have a child? Does Arthur still see that girl on the west side?

Mrs. E.E.E.

My dear Mrs. E.E.E.

Yes, in 1952, thru the F.H.A. Never. Yes, He is married to her.

Dear Criswell:,

Will this investment pay out for me or should I turn the whole thing over to my lawyer as a fraud?

William C.

My dear William:

It is a fraud, and place it in the capable hands of your attorney at once.

Dear Criswell:

Did Alice know she was going to die? Is this why she suddenly became sweet to every one?

Marcy S.

My dear Marcy:

I do feel that Alice knew of her approaching death, and tried to make up with all those people she had fought with during her life time. You will get your share of the estate without any trouble on your part.

Dear Criswell:

Will my husband always drink to excess?

Mrs. Evelyn H.

My dear Evelyn:

Once your husband gets away from these drinking companions, he will improve. He is of a weak nature and wants to be a good fellow, and this is his downfall. He wants every one to like him, which is a physical impossibility. The sport shirt will be found. You will have a home of your own in 1952. There will be one more child.

Dear Criswell:

Should I sell my home? Is my son and his wife parted, and which one is to blame? Will I ever be happy again?

Mrs. Stella R.

My dear Stella:

Yes, and then you will invest in income property. Yes, but they will go back together. You will find that happiness will come on you on quick wings in November.

Wine Tasting

If you're thinking of training for the profession, you'll have to stop drinking and smoking, eat moderately, eat little or no sweets, avoid highly seasoned foods. Get plenty of regular sleep.

By DON HOLLAND

Professional wine tasters are, according to the legends, fabulous fellows with gifts of sight, taste and smell that are beyond the understanding of most of us. The legends are based on some elements of fact, for the taster is indeed a person apart from the rest of the wine drinking world.

Most of us, in our innocence, have a method of classifying wines that is direct and foolproof: A particular wine either pleases our sense of taste or it does not, and that is that. Never mind the whys of the matter. Quite sensibly, we drink wine for enjoyment, and if it pleases us we are satisfied.

CLASSIC OF COMPLEXITY

But to the taster, each wine is a classic of complexity. The color of the wine, its clarity, aroma, bouquet, tartness, flavor, astringency, body, degree of sweetness, and balance are all to be considered.

These are qualities that, to a great extent, escape the chemist in his laboratory analysis of wine. The chemist can report that a particular wine is composed of so much acid, so much tannin, and so much of something else just as he might analyze a great painting and announce that it was made of canvas, oil and pigment. His report, while accurate, would still leave something to be desired.

Today, just as centuries ago, it is the wine taster who is the final authority in judging the elusive qualities that seem almost to give wine a soul of its own.

Every wine grower must, of course, be a wine taster and a thoroughly competent one too. In most wineries tasting is a routine part of the daily activities.

THE HOURS ARE GOOD

From the viewpoint of the layman, one thing can be said for the wine tasting profession—the hours are good. The number of wines that can be tasted and judged in a day is strictly limited because the sense of taste soon becomes jaded if it is overworked.

Most wine tasters prefer to work during the morning hours when the palate is fresh. In preparation, a professional taster will have eaten a light and simple breakfast. Spicy foods as well as tobacco are not for him at any time. They were renounced long ago.

First, the color of the wine must be considered. Is it the gold of Sauterne, the pale—sometimes almost greenish—amber of the Rhine Wines, the bright ruby of Claret or the full deep red of Burgundy? If it is an appetizer or dessert wine, it may range from the soft amber of the dryest Sherry to the rich red of Port. In red wines, great age is sometimes indicated by a slightly brownish tinge.

SNIFF CAN REVEAL MUCH

Although the wine is always sipped from a glass, a small silver cup with indentations in the bottom is sometimes used as an aid in judging color. In France, it is called a tastevin, although in this country it is known simply as a winetaster.

The sense of smell is next employed, for a sniff can reveal much about a wine. Usually the grapes from which it was made can be identified easily by experts. This "grapey" quality is called the aroma of the wine while the word bouquet is used to describe the fragrance which comes from fermentation and aging.

And now, at last, a sip of wine is taken into the mouth and slowly rolled around with the tongue so that all of the taste buds will have their chance to aid in judging the flavor.

PLEASANT TARTNESS

The pleasant tartness which now asserts itself is due to the natural fruit acids of the grape. Without them, the wine would be lifeless and uninteresting. If it is a red wine, another sensation will also be noticed—a slight puckering of the mouth caused by the tannin which red wines extract from the grape skins. This is called astringency and its presence in moderation contributes to the agreeable character of the wine.

During the few seconds that the wine is retained in the taster's mouth, an infinite variety of flavors is sensed and mentally noted. This is as far as the taster usually goes. The wine is expelled without being swallowed so that the sense of taste will be unimpaired as he moves on to the next wine. With each wine, the last point noted and the one which is often the most revealing is the aftertaste.

A piece of bread or a sip of water is usually taken between wines to assist in cleansing the palate.

INTERESTING WORK

Interesting work, you say? Yes, but work, nonetheless, and full time work too. Listen to what a veteran California wine taster has to say about his profession:

"In the event that you are going to train to follow the profession of wine tasting, you will have to stop drinking and smoking, it will be necessary for you to eat moderately, take little or no sweets, avoid highly seasoned products and get plenty of regular sleep. That is my formula for success in the business."

To the taster, each wine is a classic of complexity. The color of the wine, its clarity, aroma, bouquet, tartness, flavor, astringency, body, degree of sweetness, and balance are all to be considered.

spot. Now this is a nice little spot next to some quaking aspen—and it also has no water. This necessitates using the coffee water to wash up in—which agitates Oscar Halsebo, who likes plenty of water to make what he likes to call mountain coffee.

In the meantime dinner is somewhat delayed since the regulator pipe on the butane stove broke off. Loumena, who has considerable plumbing talent, is forced to fix this thing with his fingernails and a screwdriver and spends a couple of hours doing this.

FORGOT SLEEPING BAG

When it is time for bed we find that we forgot to bring our sleeping bag. Some of the hunters do not feel this is serious since it seldom gets below freezing in this particular area. However, we find that Johnson brings two bags along—one to sleep in and one to use as a mattress. So we dicker with him for this bag and end up swapping our air mattress for this bag. So now we have a sleeping bag but no mattress.

At about 11:30 another party of hunters join the camp next to ours. These apparently figure there is no use of going to bed since dawn is only six hours away. So they keep everybody awake by batting the breeze in a loud voice about past hunting trips.

CAN'T FIGHT 'EM, JOIN 'EM

At 1:30 in the morning some joker decides it is about time to go out to his deer stand. The fact that it is a little dark out doesn't seem to faze this guy. So he gets Halsebo and Webb out of bed and these guys mill around the camp gathering their gear. Some of the others figure you might as well join 'em if you can't fight 'em, so they commence to get breakfast at about 2:30 a.m. Since the cook, Halsebo, is going out with these people in a little while, we see a prospect of not getting any breakfast later in the morning at a more decent hour. So we get up and have some hotcakes and some of Halsebo's mountain coffee.

QUIETLY FREEZING

At about 3:30 or 4 a.m. the party flounders off through the sage into the hills. Since we can't see any sense in wandering around the hills in the middle of the night we stay in camp, along with Loumena, who can't see any sense in it either.

But four, five guys in the other camp decide not to go out but also decide not to go to bed. Since Halsebo's mountain coffee make it impossible to sleep we go over and poin this party. And there we stand quietly freezing until dawn comes.

In addition to sunshine the dawn brings a view of the whole miserable country. Swarming all over the hills are enough hunters to man a Calla Farm Bureau drive.

BUCKLESS, AS USUAL

Eight hours later everyone is back in camp—and nobody gets a shot.

So we eventually get back to Manteca, buckless as usual. And as usual each year, we leave the jeep in the hills—this time with a burnt out bearing.

And our wife wonders why we like to hunt deer.

New Face for Fall

In Makeup, a Hint Is Stronger Than a Punch; Subtlety Means Success

By HELEN WEILL

It's all so new and so exciting—planning the wardrobe for Fall, but equally important to Milady are plans to save her face.

CAMPUS MODES—Dorothy Rose models a classic style vest and skirt of rayon acetate, with unusual hip detail. This outfit is popular on the campus, for the career girl or the shopper. She sets off the costume with a saddle leather handbag by Ganson of California and gloves of navy boucle and white pigskin by Hammer of Hollywood.

For after summer, as shades of sun-tan gradually fade, the wise lady finds a lighter powder desirable. First, her foundation should be light and, unless she prefers the sallow, should have a touch of pink.

Though Darling Daughter has peaches and cream in skin tones, Milady may not be quite so lucky. For her, Nature has lightened the blood tones, but cosmeticians have come to her rescue by making lotions in colors.

START WITH FOUNDATIONS

Starting with foundation in light pink tones, Milady presses powder on that's right. Tip number one: to make the face look natural and not mask-like, press the powder, dash-after-dash. After all is covered from widow's peak to low neck (front and back) dust off the excess, so as not to betray the rush and hurry that may have been there.

Before powder is added over foundation or base, a wee hint of creme rouge should be used on the face, being careful to avoid any unnatural pink on the cheeks. Make-up should be subtle, with but three wee spots of creme rouge along upper cheek-bone, spread gently and smoothly. It brings out the highlites of eyes, be they blue, green or brown.

THE FINE POINTS

Now, over all the powder that is light and clear in tone, and blended so warily, a bit of the dusting, that takes all excess off—and then for the fine points:

The eyes, they have it. So please try to use cream, but blend it gently over each lid to the brow. Then mildly, but firmly, a wee pat of color from eyelash to brow, with most on the lower. If one needs pencil, do that in short strokes, as if adding a hair to the brow in its points. Then brush brow away and back to their stand, to attain a smoothness.

Mascara, too, is a MUST, now, but only on eyelids which peek toward the brow. Brush upward and outward, this makes the lash curl and cooly suggests a come-hither look.

RED FOR LIPS

Now lips, of all other make-up you choose, are a must and, without them you'll lose accent on the eye, expression on face. Lipstick you choose should be color with much, much red, a true rose rouge. A few may add blue, and some find yellow blends in red lip-stick makes one less sallow. But for safe effects only, red is what you should follow.

In checking for true color, look under the ear, for this wee spot we so seldom see, the sun also misses.

Remember, the things to include in your make-up are cremes that will soften, a foundation that's cool, a powder that's wispy, a creme rouge that is vague, an eye creme to soften, an eye shadow to invite, a mascara that's even (not thick on a lash) and then, biggest MUST is a lipstick that's right.

PRINCESS — Deborah Romeis and this princess line model coat, with its velvet trim and checkered pattern, help bring out the best in each. The coat, patterned by Trude of California, carries the velvet trim to the collar, cuffs, buttons, pocket flaps and a bright surprising touch of the same trim in the center back.

Hearty Find for Breakfast

Here's a breakfast find for the cooler days of fall—scrapple. This tasty dish from out of the past presents hearty, thrifty eating for families today.

The basis of scrapple is corn meal which is combined with finely chopped or ground meat. In preparing, boil 1 quart of water, then add 1½ cups of corn meal, stirring constantly until thick. Add 2 cups of chopped or ground cooked meat, ½ teaspoon of salt and ½ teaspoon sage. For additional seasoning, 1 tablespoon of finely chopped celery leaves and ½ cup chopped parsley may be added. Pour the mixture into a loaf pan and chill until it is set. Then simply slice and brown in lard or drippings. Or first, dip in beaten eggs, then in cracker crumbs or corn meal and brown.

To cut preparation time in the morning, prepare scrapple the night before. Mix then pour into dish and chill in the refrigerator. For breakfast, slice and panfry.

Enormous piles of rock in Butte County, left by gold dredges, are now being utilized by rock crushing companies.

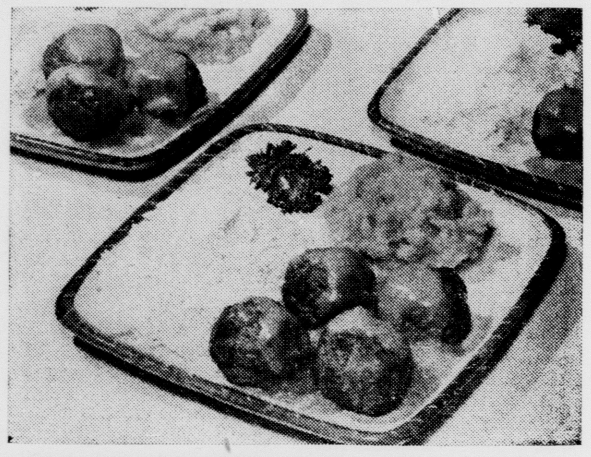
Recipe of the Week

By PATRICIA PANTRY

Now that autumn has come around again, folks are hungry for hearty meals. Budget-stretching main dishes that are both good-tasting and nutritious are few and far between, but here are some recipes using the less expensive cuts of meat which will help you with one of your most trying tasks—planning hearty meals within the family budget:

FLAVORFUL MEAT BALLS IN CREAMY TOMATO SAUCE

There are meat balls and then there are meat balls, the latter underscored, please. There are meat balls which belie the name—if they contain meat you, dear eater, can't find it! There are utterly tasteless meat balls, too, drowned in gobs of runny sauce.



GOOD-TASTING BUDGET-STRETCHER—Features main dish of meat balls in flavorful creamy tomato sauce. Served with rice and fluffy carrots this dish should be welcomed at those early fall family dinners.

1 lb. ground beef
2 teaspoons mustard-with-horseradish
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup vitaminized margarine
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup flour
2 cups hot water
1 beef bouillon cube
6 tablespoons tomato ketchup
¾ cup evaporated milk, undiluted
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Combine beef with mustard, salt and pepper. Shape into 12 balls and brown in margarine in skillet over medium heat. Remove meat balls and saute onion in drippings. When onion is golden brown blend flour with it and add bouillon cube dissolved in hot water. Cook until thickened and smooth. Add ketchup, evaporated milk and seasonings. Place meat balls in sauce and heat thoroughly. Serves four.

Note: Prepare fluffy carrots as you would mashed potatoes, substituting 6 to 8 carrots for potatoes and adding 1-16 teaspoon nutmeg to other seasonings.

THRIFTY, OUTSTANDING SHORT RIBS

Spicy short ribs are a destined hit for your dinner table. The chosen spices intermingle perfectly with the full flavor of thrifty short ribs to make this an outstanding dish.—It is prepared by the braising method.

2 pounds beef short ribs
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 medium onion, sliced
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon brown sugar
½ cup catchup
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
½ cup water
½ cup chopped celery
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Brown short ribs in lard or drippings. Brown sliced onion in butter or margarine. Add all ingredients except short ribs and simmer until slightly thickened, about 30 minutes. Pour off drippings from short ribs. Pour the sauce over the short ribs. Cover and simmer about two hours or until the meat is tender. Four to six servings.

Children Love Nectar as Afternoon Treat

Luscious apricot whole fruit nectar makes a good after-school snack for the children. The 12-ounce cans are just right for two servings. Keep a can or two chilling in the refrigerator so it will be ready to serve.

Creamed Onions Truly Can Be Company Dish

Creamed onions are a tasty vegetable that have all the earmarks of being a company dish when you sprinkle them with chopped or slivered roasted almonds. Add the crisp almonds just before serving.

PEANUT BUTTER SANDWICH

Make a different kind of peanut butter sandwich for lunch for youngsters. Blend a little mayonnaise or salad dressing with the peanut butter and then mix in some finely diced celery, grated raw carrot, and chopped seedless raisins.

FRENCH DRESSING

A quarter teaspoon of curry powder and a few drops of onion juice adds good flavor to a cup of French dressing.

NATIVE CALIFORNIA PLANTS GIVE GARDEN REAL BEAUTY

By DON LANGSDALE

If you want to capture real natural beauty in your garden, the answer is native plants. Few places in the world are as rich in both variety and beauty of native trees, shrubs and flowers as California and yet such a large percentage of our population is itself transplanted from other states, few of us realize what we do have in the way of native growth.

I took a jaunt over to Coolidge Rare Plant nursery in Altadena the other day and made a check on some of the choicest of Native California Plants. Here is a partial list:

Carpenteria Californica (Carpenteria)

Rare and beautiful shrub of erect habit grows to 3 to 7 feet. Flowers in clusters of 5 to 7. Large pure white with yellow stamens with fragrance like mock orange. Requires fair amount of water and must have good drainage.

California Lilac

Ceonosus Cyaneus "San Diego Lilac"

Most popular of California wild lilacs. Shrubs grow 6 to 12 feet. Rich glossy green foliage. Flowers are produced in immense spikes. Thrives best in disintegrated granite. Requires good drainage.

Ceonosus Gloriosus "Point Reyes Lilac"

Prostrate or decumbant shrub a few inches to one foot high, soon forming a dense mat and covering a large space. Leaves thick and leathery, shiny green. Flowers, bright blue, appear in March and April.

California Holly—Toyon

One of the most beautiful and useful of native shrubs. Desirable the year 'round. Handsome foliage, in the spring and early summer and in the fall and winter has attractive red berries. Makes excellent small tree for parkway planting. Also known as Christmas berry.

California Sycamore

A beautiful deciduous tree with tall white trunk, irregularly branched crown and light green foliage. Trees are often gnarled and crooked taking on odd shapes. Without doubt is most picturesque tree of California landscape. Rapid growth, makes splendid shade tree.

California Live Oak

Quercus Agrifalia. A spreading round topped tree with rough grey bark and deep rich green foliage. Well suited for planting on hillside. Most beautiful of all trees. Recommended for street planting.

Fremontia Mexicana "Southern Fremontia"

A rare species of San Diego County and Lower California, introduced in cultivation in 1919, now one of most popular of native shrubs. Blossoms are 3 to 4 inches across. Orange, yellow and reddish brown on under side. Commence to bloom in early spring and continue well into the summer. Requires well drained soil.

California Cherry

Prunus Lyonii. From Catalina island and other islands off coast of Southern California. Large oval leaves of rich green. Young foliage is apple green. Desirable where tall dense screen planting is needed and for foundation planting against a building. Probably now planted more than any other native shrub.

Matilija Poppy

Plants throw up many tall stems from the ground clothed with large deep cut, silvery gray leaves. Flowers large, often measuring six inches in diameter. The flowers appear in late spring and early summer and are produced in great profusion.

A NEW IDEA IN

Growing Turkeys for Profit

Sunfair Turkey Ranches

LOCATION:

Sunfair Ranches are located in The Greatest ULTRA VIOLET RAY Spot on the North American Continent, in the great Morongo Basin, in San Bernardino County just 135 miles East of the City of Los Angeles, the second largest turkey market in the world.

At the Gate Way of JOSHUA TREE NATIONAL MONUMENT, the land of a THOUSAND WONDERS.

CLIMATE:

SUNFAIR is situated at an elevation of 2650 feet above sea level. The air is dry, the average yearly rainfall is from two to four inches, IDEAL FOR TURKEY PRODUCTION. Winters are cool but comfortable with breezes from the west moderating even the warmest days. At night most people find it necessary to use one or more blankets. This area is acknowledged by medical authorities to be one of the most beneficial spots for persons afflicted with Arthritis, Sinus and all Bronchial disorders, as this is The Greatest ULTRA VIOLET RAY spot on the North American Continent.

Circular 110 of the College of Agriculture, University of California states in part, "Turkeys do better in a dry climate and ordinarily should not be raised in low damp areas."

WATER SUPPLY:

SUNFAIR water is supplied to each ranch by a Public Utility Water Company which operates under the jurisdiction of the State of California Public Utilities Commission.

A one inch take-off with meter is installed from the water main to each ranch at no cost to the land owner. This installation is made at request of the grower.

IMPROVEMENTS:

Paved streets and electricity to all property.

THE PROPERTY:

SUNFAIR Ranches have been subdivided in accordance to the regulations of the San Bernardino County Planning Commission and the California Real Estate Law. There are available 3-6-10 and 20 acre parcels of land. Ranches can be bought with a discount for cash or on reasonable terms with a down payment of 1/3 of the purchase price.

SUBDIVIDERS AND AGENTS:

Chester R. Bunker, President of the Bunker Land Company, and Lester V. Peterman, Attorney of Pasadena, are the subdividers. Mr. Bunker has been closely associated with the development of this desert region since 1934. He has successfully subdivided many properties in the 29 Palms area and completely built the town of Joshua Tree from almost nothing to its present fine community standing.

SUNFAIR COMMUNITY:

Five years ago Bob Kroes purchased a small ranch at SUNFAIR and started a flock of 70 Turkeys. From that small beginning SUNFAIR has grown to a community of 29 growers and more than 70,000 birds in 1951.

The residents are active and happy and welcome visitors. They are building future large incomes of their own from small investments. Not one of the present growers has ever had any previous Turkey growing experience.

SUNFAIR is a closely knit community where every one is on an equal level as a Turkey grower. They help each other because the growers know that to build a successful community all must cooperate and each small investment becomes larger with each succeeding year and that profits are growing with those investments.

In the growing season we will show you flocks containing from 2000 to 8000 birds. The growers can tell you how they started small and are now expanding their operations. This is a wonderful way to live. Good incomes, pleasant surroundings, fine climate and a SUNFAIR Turkey grower is always his own boss.

JOIN THE SUNFAIR COMMUNITY:

If you do not have available sufficient cash money to begin your Turkeys this year, $700.00 down will start you on your way toward ultimate ownership of a Turkey ranch. As funds become available you can build your brooder house, living quarters, range pens, and other necessary equipment.

If you wish to start growing Turkeys this year you should have from four to six thousand dollars in cash available. This amount of money will make a down payment on the land, build a brooder house and comfortable living quarters, erect fences and shade, buy 2000 poults and have sufficient funds available for a year's living. Through proper credit arrangements Turkey feed and land payments can be made after the crop is marketed.

It is possible to finance the complete feed supply for a year through a nationally known feed company, who also advises you as to the Turkey's care. One feed supplier alone, has already nearly a quarter of a million dollars in feed invested in SUNFAIR Turkeys this year.

CONCLUDING THE SUNFAIR STORY:

If you want a business of your own in a growing community where it is possible to make a big interest return out of a small investment, investigate SUNFAIR Ranches.

Our representatives with all of the facts and figures will be glad to assist you and explain any questions you may have.

We are proud of SUNFAIR. We want you to see it.
